

EPR, P.C. (EPR) is a Virginia based multidisciplinary design firm providing traffic and transportation engineering, transportation planning, and civil engineering services throughout the Mid-Atlantic and southeast. Founded in 2011, our company includes Engineers, Designers, and Planners holding licenses in Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland, and Florida.

EPR's business philosophy revolves around building quality client relationships which are essential to a successful business enterprise and paramount to the success of our Clients. EPR is a professional corporation and is certified as a Disadvantage Business Enterprise (WBE/DBE) firm.

Vlad Gavrilovic, a Principal at EPR, will lead the County code assessment task and coordinate with Rhodeside & Harwell on the comparative review. Vlad brings over 30 years of experience in community planning, including zoning and rural planning. His recent relevant experience at EPR, and previously at Renaissance Planning, includes: helping Fauquier County, VA update its Rural Plan, which included addressing similar opportunities and challenges of the emerging agricultural economy; conducting a series of "Local Foods Local Places" charrettes nationwide for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency; and rewriting, updating and modernizing the City of Norfolk, VA zoning ordinance.
